

Professional Certificate in Automotive Marketing

Market Research and Analysis for Automotive Products

Automotive Market Research: The systematic gathering, analysis, and interpretation of information about a market, about a product or service to be offered for sale in that market, and about the past, present, and potential customers for the product or service;